Healthy Transitions

Humanim’s Healthy Transitions is a youth-driven, strengths-based, and non-stigmatizing program that empowers young people who are struggling with mental illness to manage their mental health symptoms effectively and successfully transition into adulthood.

In partnership with the state of Maryland, we employ developmentally appropriate, evidence-based practices to assist youth in effectively managing their mental health symptoms, while obtaining employment, enrolling into college or trade schools, strengthening their social supports, and transitioning into housing and residential services. By providing individualized services that are unique to the needs of young adults with mental illness, youth are able to become more independent and self-sufficient, and be successful adults in the community.

Healthy Transitions provides opportunities for involvement regardless of race, ethnicity, nationality, faith groups, gender identity or sexual orientation.
